CAPTAIN HARRY C. ALLENDORFER, Jr., USN

CAPTAIN HARRY C. ALLENDORFER, JR., U.S. NAVY

Captain Harry C. Allendorfer, Jr., was born in Johnstown, Pennsylvania, the son of Harry C. and Agnes B. Allendorfer. After two years preparatory work at Valley Forge Military Academy in Wayne, Pennsylvania, he entered the United States Naval Academy with the class of 1942.

Because of World War II, Captain Allendorfer's Class graduated in December, 1941. Soon after graduation he was ordered to the Gunners Department of the heavy cruiser USS WICHITA. During the course of World War II, WICHITA steamed in all major theaters of the war. The ship saw action on the Murmansk convoy runs in the North Atlantic; the invasion of North Africa; South Pacific operations at GUADALCANAL, NEW GUINEA, THE CAROLINES, PHILIPPINES, MARSHALLS and MARIANNAS, OKINAWA, and amphibious landings on KISKA and ATTU in the Aleutians.

Immediately following the war, Captain Allendorfer assumed duties as Operations Officer for the Naval Occupation Force in Japan. In 1946, he participated in the first nuclear weapons test at Bikini Atoll and after a tour as assistant to the Inspector General of the Pacific Fleet he became Flag Secretary and Personnel Officer to the Commander Destroyer Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet.

His next assignment transferred him to the Naval Gun Factory in Washington, D.C. where he served as Aide and Public Information Officer. After a tour on the Staff of Commander Destroyer Force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet he assumed command of the Destroyer Escort, USS MALOY. While Commanding Officer of MALOY, his ship, in addition to regular fleet operations, participated in ASW experimental missions under the Operational Test and Evaluation Force.

In 1952, Captain Allendorfer was ordered to the U.S. Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island, as a student. He remained at the War College upon graduation as a member of the staff. During this tour he married the former Nancy Carroll of Wheeling, West Virginia.

Upon completion of his tour at the Naval War College, Captain Allendorfer assumed command of the USS MILLER, based in Newport, Rhode Island. While in command, he saw service in the Western Atlantic, Caribbean, Mediterranean, and Middle East. He was then ordered to the Staff of the Chief of Naval Operations, where he was assigned duties as Chief Briefer and Officer in Charge of the CNO Flag Plot in the Pentagon. Here he regularly briefed the President, Secretary of State, members of Congress, and other high government officials as well as the Chief of Naval Operations and other senior officers in the Department of Defense.

In 1960 he assumed command of Destroyer Division 202 and, during this tour, in addition to fleet operations in the Western Atlantic and Caribbean, participated in a SOLANT AMITY cruise to the western and southern coasts of Africa. He was next assigned as Executive Assistant and Aide to the Commander in Chief, U.S. Atlantic Fleet, Commander in Chief Atlantic and NATO's Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic. In this capacity he traveled extensively in Europe to the various NATO countries.

His next duty was that of Chief of Staff and Aide to Commander Carrier Division TWENTY and Anti-Submarine Warfare Group FOUR. During this tour he saw continuous service in the Atlantic and Caribbean areas, and in the Mediterranean with the U.S. SIXTH Fleet. Primary employment of ASW Group FOUR was conduct of Hunter-Killer operations, but on several occasions the group participated in the GEMINI-astronaut recovery operations.

CAPTAIN HARRY C. ALLENDORFER, Jr., USN

In June 1965, Captain Allendorfer took command of Destroyer Squadron THIRTY TWO based in Norfolk, Virginia. Under his command, the Squadron steamed nearly a million miles in all of the major oceans and seas of the world. His ships have operated with the SIXTH Fleet in the Mediterranean and the SEVENTH Fleet in the Western Pacific and with the SECOND Fleet and with the Anti-Submarine Warfare Force in the Western Atlantic. They have also been assigned to the FIFTH Fleet in the Eastern Pacific and to the South Atlantic Force. From June to December 1966, eight ships of the squadron were engaged in combat operations in the Viet Nam Area and Captain Allendorfer was in command of the SEVENTH Fleet Naval Gunfire Support Unit while in the area. For his next tour of duty he has been ordered to the Special Study Group of the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

Captain and Mrs. Allendorfer presently reside in Norfolk, Virginia, with their three children: Libby, 17; Nancy, 11; and Harry C. III, 4.

His mother, Mrs. H.C. Allendorfer, lives in Johnstown, Pennsylvania. He has twin sisters. One is married to Mr. Andrew Y. Gallup and lives in New Brunswick, New Jersey, and the other is married to Lieutenant Colonel Grove C. Johnson, USAF, who is in command of the Security Detachment at Tan Son Nhut Air Base in Saigon, Viet Nam.

DESTROYER SQUADRON THIRTY TWO
3 June 1965 -- 28 Jan. 1967

During the time that Commodore Allendorfer has had the privilege and good fortune to command the 3000 officers and men of the "ANYWHERE ANYTIME" Squadron, its ten ships have steamed nearly one million miles in most of the oceans and seas of the world. As an integral part of the Anti-Submarine Hunter-Killer "TASK GROUP ALFA", the squadron operated extensively in the Western Atlantic Ocean and Caribbean Sea and was deployed with the SIXTH FLEET in the Mediterranean Sea. A total of 105 anti-submarine torpedoes were fired in ASW exercises and the squadron's drone helicopters (DASH) flew 329 hours and made 6000 successful landings.

Over 44,000 rounds of ammunition have been fired from the squadron's 5"/54, 5"/38, 3"/50, and 3"/70 guns in the past twenty months. 27,000 of these rounds were fired at Viet Cong targets in Vietnam by eight ships of the squadron which operated with the SEVENTH FLEET in the South China Sea and Tonkin Gulf. As a result of this bombardment with over 800 tons of ammunition, an estimated 2000 Communist troops were killed or wounded and heavy damage was inflicted upon enemy installations and equipment which included 2700 military structures such as fortifications, supply depots, ammo dumps, tactical bunkers, tunnels and trenches. Interdiction firing by the ships sank 40 supply sampans, killed 50 pack animals and wrecked a bridge. On a half dozen occasions, accurate naval gunfire from Destroyer Squadron 32 ships broke up strong enemy attacks on isolated friendly outposts and has been credited with saving the lives of hundreds of United States and Vietnamese soldiers and marines. In addition to providing naval gunfire support for troops ashore, ships of the squadron screened Tonkin Gulf aircraft carriers against attack by Communist PT Boats, submarines, and aircraft. In so doing, they made a significant contribution to the effectiveness of United States air attacks against North Vietnam. Seventy officers and men have been decorated for their outstanding performance of duty with DESRON 32 in Vietnam and additional awards have been recommended.

The ships circumnavigated the globe by proceeding to Vietnam by way of the Panama Canal and Pacific Ocean and returning through the Indian Ocean, Red Sea, Suez Canal, Mediterranean Sea and Atlantic Ocean.

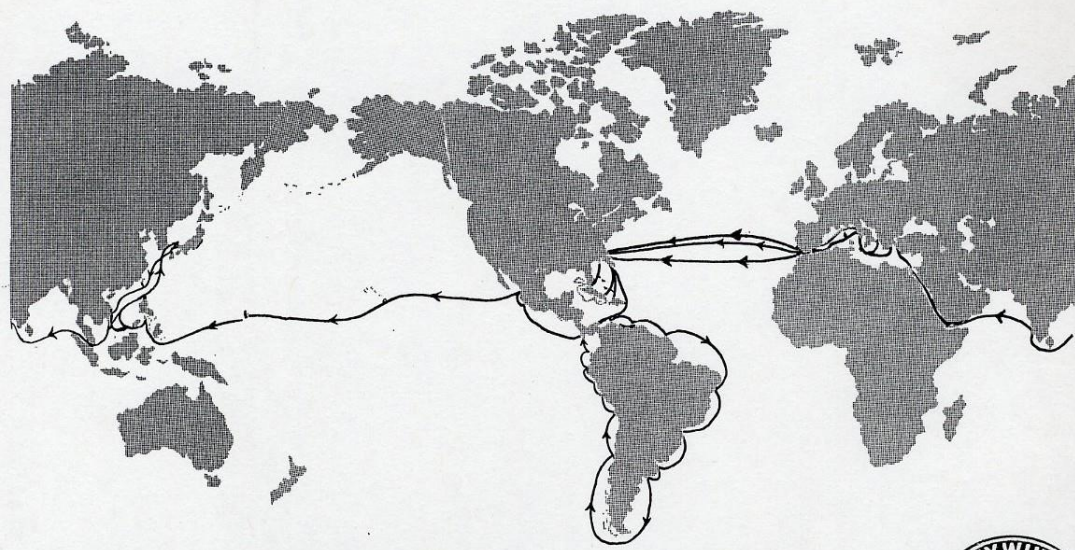

One ship of the squadron, USS NORFOLK, made the 1965 UNITAS Cruise around South America as part of the SOUTH ATLANTIC FORCE, promoting good will and enhancing hemispheric defense through extensive ASW operations with various South American navies.

Destroyer Squadron THIRTY TWO is a part of CRUISER DESTROYER FLOTILLA FOUR which is assigned to the UNITED STATES ATLANTIC FLEET CRUISER DESTROYER FORCE. In operations at sea in the Western Atlantic and Caribbean, the squadron was assigned to the UNITED STATES ATLANTIC FLEET ANTI-SUBMARINE WARFARE FORCE and the UNITED STATES SECOND FLEET. On deployments, the squadron operated with the UNITED STATES SIXTH FLEET, the UNITED STATES SEVENTH FLEET and the UNITED STATES FIRST FLEET.
